

Lifestyle News — Life and Music of Great Composers

'Music' is therapy for the soul...

The Kew Gardens Lifestyle team is dedicated to providing our cherished residents with a highly stimulating and robust Lifestyle programme.

We are, therefore, very pleased to introduce the latest addition to our entertainment line up — a session entitled, "Life and Music of Great Composers."

The weekly-held music appreciation tutorial has been designed and coordinated by our newest Lifestyle Assistant, Lana Zgoznik.

Kew Gardens residents have been studying the lives of many great composers such as Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and Tchaikovsky in the context of their associated musical genres. Residents have taken great delight in listening to famous compositions, appreciating the talents of these great composers and the contribution to the classical musical landscape each has made.

The musical journey has been further enhanced for residents by viewing video footage of famous orchestras playing these works on the big screen in the facility's state-of-the-art private cinema. The response from the residents has been overwhelmingly positive with many expressing the deep and soulful effect the music has had on them. Quickly becoming a 'favourite', these detailed tutorials will continue to delight and inspire throughout the year.

The Australian Aged Care Group Pty Ltd is committed to providing musical therapy for all its residents. Kew Gardens also has a baby grand piano on residence, ensuring our Piano Lounge is properly equipped for the many talented performers that frequent the facility. The lounge provides a relaxed, artistic environment for residents to embrace musical performance and their own creative expression.
